Happy World Animal Day!

October 4th is World Animal Day, dedicated to commemorating the pioneer of conservation and Italian missionary, Saint Francis. He advocated the idea of showing gratitude to animals for their love and service to humanity. Saint Francis believed that all creatures in nature are our brothers and sisters, emphasizing the equal treatment of all living beings. World Animal Day was initiated by a group of ecologists in 1931, originally to raise awareness about endangered animals. Over time, it evolved to encompass care for all animals and a reminder to respect and conserve all forms of life while expressing gratitude to conservationists.

To mark this occasion, Onlygo is launching a collection of six printed T-shirts featuring endangered animals. Our goal is to raise awareness of environmental and animal-friendly practices♥

The designs include the green sea turtle, leopard cat, volcano rabbit, whale shark, red panda, and black-footed penguin.
